FROM FARM TO FARM

By BYRON DYER

What became of all the dipping vats that one used to see over the county? We found one at Wilson Hart's place and he puts it to excellent use. He finds that continual dipping keeps hogs free of lice and ticks, which in turn keeps the hogs free of mange and saves some of the feed cost.

Dorsey Nesmith took the Life Insurance Week seriously. He spent several days in immunizing calves for blackleg. He states that it is the best insurance he knows.

Houses and barns and fences are not the only things that may be painted and spruced up. J. A. Minick has white washed the trees from the ground a few feet up and has found that it adds considerably to the attractiveness of his place.

Have you ever heard of running water walking? There is a farm in Bulloch where the water is actually being made to walk. H. J. Akin, by the use of well built channels and well laid off terraces, slows his running water down to a walk.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mann have found that they could save money by going into areas that had desirable shrubs on them in the woods and selecting and collecting such plants as are desirable to landscape their home grounds with. The plan not only saves money for them but gave them a very wide collection of shrubs and a chance to study plant life from a practical point of view.

Mr. N. J. Cox is a little man with good big ideas. He has learned that strawberries will add to the farm income as well as give a farmer money at a season when nothing else is for sale.

If it is good there is a special market for it, is the opinion of Mrs. H. E. Knight and Sons, when discussing the methods used in selling their cattle. Sometime ago the cattle they had on feed was contracted for by a reliable butcher at a fancy price, if delivered a few each week. The quality of the stuff finished out can best be judged by the fact that concerns that buy only prime steaks are now buying from this butcher.

THE BULLOCH HERALD

DEDICATED TO THE PROGRESS OF STATESBORO AND BULLOCH COUNTY

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, FRIDAY, JUNE 4, 1937

NUMBER 11

VOLUME 1.

Swimming Pool Open; Enjoyed by Many Youngsters

OPENS WEDNESDAY UNDER THE SPONSORSHIP OF THE ROTARY CLUB.

Under the sponsorship of the Statesboro Rotary Club the Dorman Swimming Pool opened here Wednesday.

For several weeks there has been some agitation on the part of Statesboro citizens to get the pool opened this summer. Alfred Dorman, owner of the property offered the pool to the City of Statesboro upon certain conditions. The City of Statesboro did not see their way clear to accept the offer. Then the Rotary Club appointed a committee of Dr. A. J. Mooney, Allen Lanier and Byron Dyer to investigate the possibility of the club sponsoring the operation of the pool as a Rotary project. The committee reported favorably on the proposition which was accepted by the Rotary Club at their weekly meeting, Monday. The same committee was appointed to make arrangements for the opening and the operation of the pool.

According to the present plans the pool will not be opened on Saturday and the water will be changed on Saturday and Tuesday of each week. A small charge will be made for the use of the pool. The City of Statesboro will furnish the water at a minimum charge and lights will be furnished by the Georgia Power Co.

One of the first things advocated by The Herald upon its establishment here was a place for the young folks to go swimming. Almost every week the Herald made a plea for the opening of the pool. Though the City of Statesboro did not accept the Dorman proposition the Herald continued to plead for the opening of the pool.

Rotary Club Holds Regular Meeting

ACCEPTS COMMITTEE'S RECOMMENDATION TO OPEN SWIMMING POOL.

The Rotary Club at their regular weekly luncheon Monday accepted a committee recommendation that the club sponsor the opening of the Dorman Pool, heard Dr. H. H. London on "Industrial Arts" and had a report from the committee which attended the Charter Night in Cochran.

Last week the Rotary Club appointed Dr. A. J. Mooney, Allen Lanier and Byron Dyer to investigate the possibilities of the Rotary Club sponsoring the operation of Dorman Pool as a club project. Monday the committee reported favorably on the matter and the club accepted the committee recommendations.

Dr. H. H. London, head of the Department of Industrial Arts at Teachers College, was the principal speaker at the Monday meeting. He talked on his vocation, "Industrial Arts." Dr. London gave statistics to show how Georgia ranks in the field of industrial arts and the per capita wealth of Georgia compared to other states. He stated that Georgia is purely an agricultural state and insisted that industrial arts should be fostered to improve the state's income.

B. L. Smith reported for the committee which attended Charter Night and the inauguration of a new club in Cochran. Those who attended the Charter Night were Smith, S. W. Lewis, C. F. Cone, Z. S. Henderson.

DR. E. N. BROWN APPOINTED ON BOARD OF EXAMINERS

At the meeting of the Georgia Dental Association held in Savannah recently Dr. E. N. Brown of Statesboro was selected as a member of the State Board of Dental Examiners to serve for a period of four years, it was learned here this week.

According to the laws governing the practice of dentistry in Georgia the board, known as the Board of Dental Examiners of Georgia, consists of five members to be appointed and commissioned by the Governor. The present Society nominates four reputable practicing dentists and from those so nominated the Governor shall appoint one member of the Board to serve five years and until his successor is appointed.

Go after the long term subscriptions now while they count the greatest in vote values. A few long term subscriptions turned in before closing time Saturday night, June 5, will earn big votes. It takes votes to win. So go after several long terms now. See your friends that will give you long term terms. Think it over and act now. Five 6 year subscriptions turned in, will mean 1,325,000 votes. Surely you have five friends that will help you. See them, it might mean the Grand Capital Prize.

Yesterday Mrs. L. H. Young was brought home from Sandersville where she has been since Sunday afternoon suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Young, together with their two children, Betty and Barbara, were returning from Atlanta where they had visited with Mrs. Young's mother, when the car they were driving was hit by another automobile driven by a negro man. Mrs. Young was thrown from the car and suffered a broken collar bone and a dislocated shoulder. The children escaped with only minor cuts and bruises. Mr. Young suffered minor injuries.

Subscription Campaign Now Running Close In Fourth Week

During the past few weeks The Herald's subscription campaign has been gaining by leaps and bounds. Thousands of votes have been cast. Batters are being fought and the race wages fast and furious.

Yet so closely arrayed, and honors so equally divided up to the present time, it seems that it depends entirely upon the individual effort of each candidate between now and the close of the second period as to the ultimate winner may be.

Not one has a walkaway for the capital prize, neither is anyone hopelessly beaten.

Just a good bunch of subscriptions would change the entire complexion of affairs. In fact, a few long term subscriptions might stem the tide of defeat and turn it into a sweeping victory.

If a candidate waits now for a similar moment, if they wait for a day, or if they overlook one opportunity to better their chance to win, they are taking a desperate chance.

Candidates shouldn't forget that this is a battle hereafter. Hard work is what counts. But the rugged strength and lasting qualities that win in any victory are persistence, a never die spirit, and an absolute determination to win. Do everything you can from now until the finish of the campaign.

Now is the time to go after long term subscriptions—the ones that count the most votes. See your friends, get them interested in your winning the grand capital prize.

The Statesboro Livestock Commission Company sold 510 hogs at auction and 75 head of cattle, Wednesday. Though the hog market was off top still ranged around $10.90 a hundred pounds. Fat pigs bought a fancy price and a large lot of pigs were sold Wednesday.

The Bulloch Stock Yard sold 200 head of hogs and 35 head of cattle at their sale Tuesday.

With the cattle market unchanged in the last two weeks the two sales here this week handled 710 hogs and 110 head of cattle.

Man Found Dead on U.S. Highway No. 80

A man, identified as H. H. Wilson of 888 Edgewood Avenue, Atlanta, was found dead Monday afternoon on the Portal-Statesboro Highway with a bullet hole through his head and a pistol clutched in his hand.

Though passersby stated that the car in which Wilson was discovered had been parked along side the highway as early as eleven o'clock Monday morning, it was not until mid-afternoon that someone stopped to investigate. County officers and the coroner were summoned and an inquest held. The coroner jury brought in a verdict that the man came to his death by self-inflicted gun shot wounds. The body was brought to Statesboro by a local undertaker and relatives in Atlanta notified. An Atlanta undertaker came for the body early Tuesday morning.

The dead man, when discovered, was slumped over under the driver's seat of a brown Buick sedan with the pistol clutched in his hand. Several travelers had noticed the car and some few had seen a man in the front seat, but thought the man asleep. Identifications showed to the satisfaction of the coroner jury that the man was H. H. Wilson of Atlanta, that his address was 888 Edgewood Avenue and that he was in some way connected with the Atlanta Portrait Company. Several medical prescriptions were found in the man's pockets. No notes or letters concerning the contemplation of the act were found on the man or in the car.

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Appling of Atlanta arrived today to spend the week end with Mr. and Mrs. G. Castlen.

Cheap Spray Is Developed To Control Blue Mold; Will Save Growers Million Dollars

LONG TESTS SHOW HIGH EFFICIENCY

EXPERTS HAVE DEVOTED FIVE YEARS OF STUDY TO FORMULA WHICH HAS PROVEN SUCCESS.

By H. S. Starr, Director Coastal Plain Experiment Station, Tifton, Georgia

For the first time in the history of blue mold tobacco production it has been definitely proven that blue mold (downy mildew) in tobacco plant buds can be controlled successfully by the use of certain sprays. This has been accomplished during the most disastrous outbreak of the disease that has ever occurred in the United States. According to S. H. Starr, director of the Georgia coastal plain experiment station at Tifton, credit for this achievement must go to J. G. Gaines, plant pathologist, who is located at that institution. Mr. Gaines' findings show that blue mold is caused by a fungus which attacks the leaves of seedlings in plantbeds and often kills the entire plant. This fungus is so virulent and develops so rapidly that severely affected beds soon have been dashed suddenly with scalding water. Damage to plant buds is less serious in that it is in immediate danger of the disease work of this division in Washington. Dr. Clayton, Mr. Gaines and their associates worked out numbers of spray formulas that were tried out by Mr. Gaines, but it was not until the present year when the disease was unusually severe that they could be given a thorough test in the plant beds. During previous years either the damage from blue mold was not serious or the plants were injured by freezes which prevented conclusive tests of sprays or other control measures.

Blue mold made its sudden and unexpected appearance in the blue mold tobacco belt in the late spring of 1931. At this time the disease caused only negligible damage, but it became apparent that should it appear earlier in the planted season considerable damage might result.

The severity of the disease depends almost entirely on temperature and moisture conditions, particularly temperature. Most damage is done in cool or foggy weather, when the temperature ranges between 40 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit, the optimum being 60 degrees.

Tobacco beds usually are sown the latter part of December or first of January. When mild weather occurs during January or early February, results in abnormally early plants, conditions are made favorable for the early appearance of the blue mold fungus. The damage is expected to be severe when the disease appears at this time and when the weather is continuous through the winter the fungus is not expected to show up until most plants are large enough to transplant or to withstand the attack.

The above expectations were born out in part in 1932, when the unusually mild winter was responsible for blue mold appearance in early January and for a severe and widespread epidemic which killed at least 15 percent of the Georgia plants and seriously affected those remaining. A freeze March 9, 1932, was estimated to have killed 45 percent of the plants and halted temporarily experimental work with control methods. After this freeze a blue mold control activity but it was not possible to estimate the injury due to mildew alone.

From 1933 through 1936 blue mold was much less severe than in 1932, killing not over five percent of the plants each year. During this time the disease was not enough to warrant the adoption of control methods commercially. Symptoms did not show up unusually early in these four years and the control data obtained did not prove conclusively that certain of these methods would be effective against very severe outbreaks.

Ample opportunity to thoroughly test control measures was afforded in 1937, for this season witnessed the most serious setback to tobacco plants recorded to date. Blue mold showed up about the center of the Georgia belt during the latter part of January, following numerous mild, foggy days. Moderately cool weather prevailed during February and March with the result that the disease became widespread while most plants were small, and remained active for a period of at least two months. Striking the beds when the plants were very young, the disease caused severe damage and although more plantbeds were seeded than were necessary for a normal crop, the actual acreage set was reduced and transplanting delayed nearly a month.

At the outset of the discovery of blue mold in 1931, experiments were begun at the Coastal Plain Experiment Station looking toward the control of this disease. As indicated above, the disease has been severe during only two years, viz., 1932 and 1937. Since the hard freeze in March of 1932 destroyed such a large percentage of plants it was not possible to thoroughly test control measures during that year, therefore, it was not until 1937 that the effectiveness of control measures could be accurately determined.

Three methods of attack have been made in controlling blue mold: (1) Artificial heat may be used effectively in keeping the temperature too high for disease development, but the cost of steam or other heat for maintaining hotbeds is prohibitive under average farm conditions, and the tender plants produced under glass do not always live well when set in the field; (2) The fumes evaporated from certain volatile liquids, such as benzene and xylene, very effectively control the blue mold, but tight plantbed frames are required to prevent the gases from escaping; (3) The use of certain insecticidal sprays combined with profitably control the disease even in seasons of very severe outbreaks.

The first two methods are much more expensive than the latter and call for definite change in adopted plant growing practices. Spraying standards practice of growing plants and costs only about three or four dollars per 100 yards of seedbed during the average season. This is considerably less than the cost of sowing additional beds. While the spray does not entirely prevent blue mold it does protect plants from being killed by the disease, and it also prevents undue delay in transplanting, such as was experienced during the 1937 outbreak.

The spray treatment is by far the most satisfactory control measure. It does not involve a change in the standards practice of growing plants and there is no cure known for blue mold but that certain protective sprays when applied to the foliage will delay the disease and lessen its severity. One of the most promising of these sprays consists of a mixture of red copper oxide, lethane spreader, cottonseed oil and water. Directions for making up the spray are as follows:

Use one-half pound of red copper oxide, one quart of lethane spreader and one-half gallon of cottonseed oil to 50 gallons of water. Moisten the copper oxide with a small portion of the spreader and add some water. Stir the oil with the larger portion of spreader in a pail and add a gallon or two of water. Then emulsify the oil by pumping the contents of the pail through a bucket pump with spray nozzle attached. Add the emulsified oil and spreader to the copper oxide suspension and make up to 50 gallons. Since the mixture will not keep, make up only enough to spray the beds one time and use immediately.

About 50 gallons of mixture will be enough to spray 1,000 square yards of bed one time. For effective control, it is necessary to begin spraying two weeks before blue mold appears in the bed and continue spraying twice a week until the plants are ready to set. In warm winters, it may be necessary to begin spraying the last week in January or first of February, but in normal seasons the first of March is early enough in many instances.

WITH THE COUNTY AGENTS

BYRON DYER
FARM TO FARM

According to "Nudy" Lee, there can be no doubt as to who has the finest field of corn in the county, for Nudy claims that distinction himself. If he is to be taken seriously and from the looks of his field of corn he comes pretty high being right. He tells that it got that way by his corn would settle once and for all why it is advisable to use fertilizer under it.

W. S. Preetorius must have studied geometry when he was in school. It is a thing of geometric beauty. From the roadside in from his house one can see only straight rows of melons any way one looks at them.

Side dressing cotton should pay this year, according to Bill Simmons, of the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service. The April 29 rain leached some of the plant food value from the fertilizer put under his cotton. From the looks of his cotton very little fertilizer was carried from his field.

W. L. Zetterstrom should know. He says that finishing hogs to sell in the summer proves profitable when the prices are high.

Growing poultry feed at home increases the net income of the flock for F. W. Elmore, who plants wheat follows it with corn for his grain.

Col. A. M. Deal makes a very formidable foe of Bermuda grass. He passes along the information that it can be killed, while it is being mowed. Deal planted a field he desired to rid of Bermuda grass in winter legumes, with the idea of shading out and then building the soil. The vetch is now being followed with a summer legume to continue the shade for the year. Col. thinks the remainder of the grass will be killed by the end of the summer.

Scraw worms are showing up on the lower part of the state now, which is the earliest they have appeared in Georgia. Brooks, Charlton, Echols, Glynn and Thomas counties have reported a few cases. Doubtless cases have occurred in other counties since the report from these counties was received. Bullock farmers are urged to use all precautions possible in avoiding an outbreak here. Wounds on animals should be cared for and tar or some other material applied to keep the fly away from the breaks in the skin. Indications are there will not be a supply of tar or benzol available for free distribution.

A total of $296,019,848 has already been paid to farmers of the United States who participated in the 1936 Agricultural Conservation program. Officials of the triple A say payments are being made at the rate of more than a million dollars daily and will continue until all payments due producers have been completed. Congress appropriated 440 millions for this purpose.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace has appointed 12 nationally known experts in highway engineering to work with the Bureau of Public Roads in developing standards of highway design to promote maximum traffic safety and highway utility.

Nearly 53 million acres of productive farm land in the United States were subject to conservation practices under the 1936 agricultural conservation program, a preliminary estimate explains. Reports indicate about 31 million acres of land were diverted

Now that summer is really here, many of us are planning picnics and other outings into the woods. And necessary parts of these jaunts are the lunches which we carry along. Most memories of picnicking include aches and pains caused by eating food which had been left too long in a warm atmosphere. No matter how nice a lunch we fix, the eating of it often results in illness for one or more of the party.

For that reason, a few suggestions here on picnicking should not be a mistake. Moist cooked foods, such as milk, eggs, meat, or fish, are excellent breeding places for harmful microorganisms, including those that cause serious poisoning without making the food smell or taste spoiled. Bacteria, the bacteria which infect food are found everywhere. Give them a favorable temperature and the necessary moisture and they multiply rapidly. They seem to be especially partial to meat, fish, and cream fillings for cakes and pies.

The bacteria that infect food do not confine themselves to picnic fare. They are also fond of left-overs. Leftovers of meat pies, dishes made with cream sauce, gravies, custards, boiled or cream salad dressing must be carefully handled and should be used promptly. In general, left-overs should be discarded promptly. From the dishes in which they were served to separate, clean, dry, covered dishes, chilled as quickly as possible, and kept in the cold store room or refrigerator.

In hot weather, especially, left-overs of perishable foods should be boiled or thoroughly heated before they are served again. "Warming up" such foods is not enough; it may even increase the danger by raising the temperature to a point favorable to the growth of microorganisms but not high enough to destroy them.

With delayed marketings resulting from unfavorable weather or conditions earlier in the season, prices of many of the fruits and vegetables during the present month failed to follow the usual seasonal trends. In general prices of both fruits and vegetables are relatively high for this time of year, the Bureau of Agriculture.

Dance and Ball
A dance is merely a ball on a smaller scale. For people are invited and as a rule the decorations are simpler. Invitations to balls always include older people, whereas invitations to a dance include persons approximately of the same age.

WHAT STREET DO YOU LIVE ON?

Last summer one of our citizens went to Tybee and was examined by one of the beach officers regarding his knowledge of beach parking regulations. Upon our citizens' acknowledgment of his ignorance the officer asked him from where he came. "Statesboro," replied our citizen. "Where, Statesboro, listen don't give me any of that, the last dozen people I've talked to came from Statesboro. What street do you live on in Statesboro?" And in our friend's answer we take our text. As strange as it may seem this man from Statesboro could not for his life think of the name of the street on which he resided. He explained to the officer at Tybee that he had lived on that street for four or five years, that he had never seen a sign to tell him what street he lived on, that he could not even be sure that it had a name. He indicated just where he lived, how one could get there from the courthouse, but the name, he knew it not.

We experience trouble, as have a number of others to whom we have talked, in directing strangers looking for the home of some resident of Statesboro. Before realizing that the stranger does not know the location of the streets to which we direct him and that there is no indicators on these streets, we find ourselves telling him to "go to the traffic light, turn to the left and go to where the pavement changes, turn to the right, then go two blocks and turn left at the school house," and so until the stranger comes out here.

And there are we here in Statesboro who know where our friends live but could not tell one the name of the street, if asked. A marker on the corner would help.

One walking our main streets after dark now has the feeling of metropolitan surroundings. The recently installed neon signs over our side walks add materially to the appearance of the city, besides being an attractive signature of the merchant's business.

DOES ORGANIZED FOREST FIRE PROTECTION PAY?

This is not a debatable question, as the following figures taken from the records in the office of R. D. Franklin, assistant state forester, in Waycross, will prove. A study of the figures, and comparisons of one year with another made, will reveal some very interesting information, especially with reference in protected areas; number of fires each year; acres burned; the percentage and the loss sustained.

Year	Acres protected	No. of fires	Acres burned	Per cent	Damage
1933	1,800,000	898	406,885	22	$1,300,000
1934	2,000,000	995	265,378	13	$24,317
1935	2,300,000	1407	185,971	8	$95,649
1936	2,500,000	957	40,946	1.6	$1,185

Observe that the protected area in 1936 had increased by almost a million acres over 1933; and while the number of fires was nearly as great in '36 as it was in '33 the percentage of burned area dropped from twenty two percent to one and six-tenths percent. Note also that the damages sustained after four years of TPO operations was only $51,118 on two and a half million acres as compared with $1,300,000 in 1933 on one million eight hundred acres.

For the large and small land owners of the slash pine territory these figures will be interesting; and it should be interesting to non-land owners, as well, to know that under fire protection in which the TPO and the OCC carried on so faithfully and well, the fifteen counties that comprise the district sustained a loss of $1,248,882 less in 1936 than in 1933. Do these figures indicate that "Fireless Forests" will pay the greatest profits?

Did you go to the Swimming Pool Wednesday? And did you note the joy and abandon with which those youngsters took to the water? Surely seeing them repays the Rotary Club a hundred times for the trouble and expenses to which they went in getting it opened.

TEN FARMER PLANKS

In a published booklet the American Farm Bureau Federation gives, among other valuable information, its platform for American agriculture. The ten planks of this platform, in condensed form, are as follows:

1. The support of sound and economical production practices.
2. Placing in the hands of producers the control of the sale of farm products.
3. Equality for farmers in the standard of living enjoyed.
4. Adjustments to give the farmer parity with others in purchasing power.
5. Development of schools, roads, rural electrification, churches, health agencies and all other factors contributing to an ideal community environment.
6. Farmer representation on all important public boards and commissions.
7. A national agricultural policy based on a free and independent farm people, as contrasted with foreign peasant systems.
8. The creation of new and enlarged markets for American farm products.
9. Maintenance of that economic system which protects private ownership of property and provides a just reward for individual effort; public protection through regulation; it opposes communism.
10. Providing an organization to supply facilities for group action in building a permanent, prosperous, free, independent American agriculture.

U. S. ELECTRIC COMPANIES LEAD WORLD

The United States leads the world, by a tremendous margin, in hydro-electric power development. This is the outstanding fact produced in a recent factual summary of the world's water power resources, made by the Geological Survey.

In North America, which embraces 12 countries, there is approximately 26,000,000 developed horsepower in hydro plants. About two-thirds—17,119,610 horsepower—of this is in the United States.

In the entire world, developed horsepower totals about 60,000,000—of which this country accounts for almost a third. As against our 17,000,000 developed horsepower, for example, Italy has but 6,000,000, France but 5,000,000, the U. S. S. R. but 1,463,000, and Great Britain and Northern Ireland but 400,000.

It is probable that if similar statistics were gathered for electric power produced by other means, such as steam plants, our world leadership would be as great. In the United States we really live in the electric age—a fact which is largely responsible for our incomparably high standard of living. The development of electrical resources and the constant bettering and cheapening of service, has been one of the major achievements of private American industry.

THE COUNTY AGENTS

One of the amendments to be voted upon June 8th permits the counties to levy taxes for the purpose of paying county agricultural agents and home demonstration agents.

Heretofore the counties have been turning the funds used to pay these agents "advertising."

The county agricultural agents and the home demonstration agents are doing a fine, constructive work, and we are sure the people of Georgia will want to see this work designated specifically and unequivocally as something that ought to be maintained and paid for by the counties.

In view of the outstanding work in Ware county by these agents in all probability the vote in this county will be overwhelmingly in favor of this amendment.—Waycross Journal Herald.

If Congress approves the George-Deen bill to appropriate $14,338,750 for vocational teaching, it will be possible to practically double the number of these classes in Georgia. At present, 205 Georgia schools have vocational and 211 have home economic teachers, with 51,368 students enrolled. These teachers are doing some of the best work being done in Georgia schools at this time and to increase the number would be beneficial to the state as a whole, and particularly to those schools where new classes are added. Tifton is one of the schools expected to share in the increased vocational fund, if it is made available.—Tifton Gazette.

If you have not been approached by one or more of the Boy Scouts on a proposition to purchase a season ticket to the Swimming Hole, don't let it worry you. Sooner than later you will be propositioned.

Cliponreka Cullings

By Your Roaming Reporter

Rambling at random we were stumped at the Alps-like setting of the old home at Bailey's Mill; reminding us of our honeymoon days in Italy? ... attracted by the grand water-melon field at Belcher's place ... and his lot full of fat, fine mules causing us to doubt they had been at work, but one look at his fields assured us the mules pulled the plow as well as ate ... what was it Solomon said: "A prudent man regardeth his beast," or was it Solomon? ... Envious of the boys submerged in the dark waters of the swimming hole by Miles' old mill, reducing the temperature from 90 degrees to less ... astonished at the changes in a public road once familiar to us, but we hadn't travelled in twenty years.

Speaking of swimmin' holes, what memory of adult days touches a more tender chord than those lingering as we ran, hanging our usual pair of overalls on a close-by bush, "Last one in's the blackest!" ... What days!!! But like so many tender memories the "old swimming hole" is gone, a victim of modern ideas of hygiene, with the present day city pool as a poor substitute. However something must be said for those Rotarians (God Bless 'Em) who have made the swimming pool a possibility for the boys and girls this torrid summer. Wish we had some charity to do as much for these boys and girls of Cliponreka.

Note to Jess Fletcher: If you don't get a hoe and smooth up the road in front of your house, several good men like Melton Deal, Parker Lanier and the Roaming Reporter are going to start taking the detour. Then see what you'll miss.

Some poetry lover sent us this during the week but we can't tell it was C. J. Martin or Hobson Wyatt: "The melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year, 'Tis just too hot for whiskey straight, and the doctor says 'No Beer.' Come to think of it, it might have been Frank Simmons, as it came in postage due."

Running around the city we found Mrs. D. H. Franklin and Miss Myrtle Tarter could not find enough beans to feed all the boys and Darwin thru the next cold spell ... Uncle Ed Quattlebaum preying up the home for his wife ... wonder who taught Uncle Ed house painting ... most of the painting done that way is done by a few of the younger fellows painting the neighborhood red ... new Percheron horse's mistake, the finest we ever saw (and the first one) ... Leona Deal Dixon and Ruby Dixon Deal getting their wash on the line by Monday at ten o'clock ... two smart girls ... admiring Thackerston's beautiful log bungalow down on the old Williams place on the River Road ... passing with reverence the city of Eureka, birthplace of the renowned Walter Brown ... trying to count all those white-faced cattle in the two pastures at the Hodges home. Seema Fred, Willie and Jim will have beef for a spell for we counted over a hundred before the car got past ... what a "before-and-after" picture is presented by the two beautiful homes of the Hodges brothers, Willie and Eli, and together with the Homer Blitch home at Blitchton seem like a page torn from Goss with the Wind. One has to look at them and picture the crinolines days of the Old South, of the chivalry and pomp that are now a part of the history of a century and a half ago, the fine men and women, the carriages, the gaiety of the youth, the happy service of the faithful slaves. The romantic soul can idle away hours and days picturing those times, and what a world it must have been.

And speaking of "be-fode-war" days the old Jim Morris three-story home, about two miles below New Hope church, presented a perfect picture of the "days that have been," as it gleamed in the afternoon sun looking all of a century and a half ago, a couple of typical "Uncle Ned" dardies dozed peacefully upon the porch in an unnoticed world sped by in modern chariots. Their heads covered with the snows of many winters, Uncle Ned and his fat old mammy sat, dreaming no doubt of the "old Mac," examine and license engineers and surveyors for the practicing of their profession within the state.

Donald & Worth, two of "Miss Isabel's," bright boys have just brought your reporter a scientific exhibit of a corn cob, enclosing a small Irish potato, growing (or trying to grow) down into it. The potato being so much larger than the pit of the cob, it had burst the cob, but still the cob hung on.

C. E. L. sends us a copy of a postal card his 16 year old cook received from her boy friend, who could write, but whose grammar and composition seems to have been neglected. This is what he wrote:

Ga. May 31 1937. Mrs. Bandy. dear In-law we are all an hop you all one was I am Now I sen baby lam write YOU NOW let me here form you mor to is the along so good time today In that he with mone get com be here 25 today June you I sen the going to BUY BOX CANDY KING will all be Love so Now want you lov me Now. Yont so for now he for me fom yo sent George by nw." C. E. writes that the joke was on his wife as the maid requested she "read" it to her, and that everyone who has seen it wondered what language it was supposed to represent. Major Hoople W. Hill, says it resembles Polynesian or Baleric, but he is inclined to think it is patterned after the Egyptian Cuneiform. Sheza Morn, Uncle Hezlie's oldest girl, says its nothing to get excited over. She says she has received thousands of letters like that and it is known the world over as the language of love.

Aunt Het, airmaleed Uncle Hezlie on the last plane leaving for Yurpup in time to reach there in time for the wedding, and just received a postcard mailed in mid-ocean stating: "Have just learned that a pessimist is a man who is seakless life's entire journey."

AT THE Churches

METHODIST CHURCH

G. N. Rainey, Pastor
One of the fine things about the presence of the Teachers College in our midst is the fact that at each commencement some outstanding minister is invited for the commencement sermon. This year Bishop Warren A. Candler, Senior Bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, is to be the preacher of the occasion. For the reason that he is the first preaching hour at this church. Bishop Candler has been invited to preach at the Methodist church at 8 o'clock. He has accepted conditionally. His physician advises that he preach only once each day. But the Bishop replied that if he felt particularly well—well Sunday he will preach for us.

Not only is the Devil seeking in-roads into the lives of his desperate disciples but he is desperately seeking the whole life of society. It seems to be his plan to get possession of the world of men by stirring up strife and hatred. No one knows better than he does that when men hate they belong to the Devil. Knowing this he leaves nothing which will make men strive and hate. Were it not for the power of God hate would be the rule and the world would be damned.

The church school will meet at 10:15 o'clock as usual but will dismiss a little earlier so that all who wish to may attend the commencement service at the college. The League will hold its service at 7 o'clock o'clock.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Brilliant Reception For S.H.S. Graduation Class

Senior Reception At Woman's Club

Deal, Mrs. Virgil Lee Hilliard and Misses Brooks Grimes, Bernice Legg, Nan Huckleback, Mary Lou Carmichael and Messrs B. A. Johnson, R. A. Montgomery, Assistant in charge. ### STEAK FRY

We have all read that best seller of several years ago "Come out of the Kitchen," but at Cora Smith's the kitchen has come out—into the loveliest flower garden imaginable.

BAPTIST CHURCH

C. M. Conson, Pastor
Did you know that Satan makes requests and that sometimes those requests are granted? Well, he is always seeking to have us and if it were not for the love and power of God he would have us too. It is no particular credit to any one that he is not an emissary of Satan. Men are born with a bias of evil. The Devil desires to have us and sift us as wheat.

Not only is the Devil seeking in-roads into the lives of his desperate disciples but he is desperately seeking the whole life of society. It seems to be his plan to get possession of the world of men by stirring up strife and hatred. No one knows better than he does that when men hate they belong to the Devil. Knowing this he leaves nothing which will make men strive and hate. Were it not for the power of God hate would be the rule and the world would be damned.

The Devil seeks by tricks to get men in his power while Jesus prays to the Father for them. And all the deception of the former is no match for the praying of the latter. This is true in the life of an individual and of the whole world.

But more Sunday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the First Baptist church. No services, except Sunday school, Sunday morning on account of commencement at the College.

Mrs. Lewis' mother, Mrs. S. E. Hogarth was observing her 86th birthday and the class proceeded to honor her on the happy occasion. Seated in the center of the room she graciously responded to the songs and good wishes extended her by the group.

It is a curious thing that every little while comes a new spurt of interest in some flower or other. For several years everybody planted thrift, but it is my prediction that we'll all be planting candytuft soon. I've seen so much of it lately. The double petunias are especially pretty. That humble flower is attaining class.

Sweetering under the first really hot days have made us beach conscious, but now that our own swimming pool is open, we can enjoy a plunge without riding miles. We will expect some brilliant aquatic exhibitions from such swimmers as Homer Blitch, Dean Anderson, Hazel Deal, Frances Deal and say can't you remember graceful Kitty Brant Franklin in the water? Come on in Kitty, and bring George III. I'll bet he'll like it fine.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES AT NEVILLS HIGH SCHOOL THIS WEEK

This week closes the first nine months term of school ever taught in Nevills High School. The commencement exercises were very good and the auditorium was filled to its capacity at every performance. Evidently the people of this entire school district were well pleased with these programs by their continued presence at all programs.

NEVILLS GRADUATES HEAR DEAN HENDERSON

To say "No" at the proper time is a difficult task for an adult and it is a test of "Growth" that Z. S. Henderson, son of South Georgia Teachers College, told the graduating classes of Nevills High School Thursday night in their closing exercises of their commencement. He said to be able to say "No" at the appropriate time was no child's work, for so many people passed through life and never learned to say "No" and "Yes" at the proper time. This able speaker pointed out to these graduates that today is the time for them to begin testing their "growth" by determining their ability of "yes and no" to the every day problems as they occur in life.

He told the young people that the ideal of a life of service to humanity should have monetary consideration of only minor importance. To those who accumulate wealth, he said, it is the use of wealth, and not the making of it that is important.

SCHOOLS FRAZIER REVIEWS

Supt. G. T. Frazier gave an interesting resume of the work done in this school. He paid a tribute to the patrons, teachers and all who live in Nevills High School District to whom he said should be given credit for the fact that the Elementary Department of the Nevills High School was placed on the Southern Accredited list in Class No. 1. He said this class was a class to be very proud of, for so few a number of schools in our county appear in this class. He said the school should be exceedingly glad of the equipment that has been installed during the past three years. He also stated that he as superintendent, with his board had made every effort to meet the physical requirements for accrediting the high school department. In a polite manner Supt. Frazier expressed his regrets of leaving this community but he reminded the educational workers of that section that Nevills School had reached its crisis and it was much easier to fall back to climb upward. He advised them in a sincere manner, to push forward for the way was now paved to reach the desired goal. He said the eleventh grade had been successfully taught this term and his class was composed of all honor graduates. His closing message was "that his prayers, for higher climbing and better success for the school was with them always."

AWARDS MADE

A number of medals were awarded at the close of the graduating exercises. Miss Katrina Nesmith, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Nesmith, was awarded a medal for outstanding scholarship; Miss Laveta Martin, the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Martin, for being the most outstanding in all the school activities and Miss Mary Frances Waters, the energetic daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waters, for higher climbing and better success for the school was with them always.

MISS KATRINA NESMITH

One of the greatest miracles happening here, was when that escaped G. A. Lewis in a recent automobile accident. He was driving alone in his car Friday night about 8:00 o'clock returning from Nevills, where he had made a last purchase of week end groceries, when the accident occurred. He lost control of his car by unknown reason, and crashed into a wire fence upon an embankment on the Hodges Brothers Farm. Evidently the car turned completely over twice demolishing the top of the car and crushing the steering wheel in.

But the most miraculous feature was when Mr. Lewis crawled through an open window of the overturned car into the spacious ditch, with only small cuts on his right hand. Although the car was badly damaged, the Ford V-8 cranked immediately after the wreck and was driven home. Saturday Mr. Lewis drove it to Statesboro where he exchanged it for a Ford V-8 of a later model.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Frazier Lanier were dinner guests of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Donaldson of Savannah on Sunday. They having gone there to attend the annual Primitive Baptist Convention.

A. B. McDougald at Sales Meeting

A. B. McDougald, Branch Manager of the American Oil Company here, returned on May 26th, from Old Point Comfort, Va., where he attended a Sales and Advertising meeting at the Hotel Chamberlain. He met with the executives of the company to discuss advertising and sales plans for the coming months.

Mr. McDougald stated that newspapers will be one of the mainstays of the coming campaign. The American Oil Company has always devoted a large portion of its advertising expenditures to newspaper space, and with great success. This year's advertising will feature the improvements made in the American Oil Company refinery at Texas City, Texas, and the "extra values" that can now be built into American Oil Company products. Just a few years ago, the American Oil Company, maker of Amoco Gas, Orange American Gas, Amoco Motor Oils and other petroleum products, built the world's greatest refining unit; but recently this unit has been further enlarged and modernized, and the capacity increased. Biblical Events Presented at 1st Baptist Church

One of the most remarkable and impressive religious features to be presented in Statesboro within the last few years was staged Tuesday evening at the First Baptist church. Outstanding events in Biblical history such as Mary at the Tomb, Saul's Conversion, the Good Samaritan, and others, were presented in oil paintings, with the characters in the scenes represented by local people. By a clever arrangement of music, screen and special lighting effects, the human characters were blended into the pictures, giving them all the appearance of complete oil painting to which local color was added by Statesboro people who posed for the pictures. Special and appropriate musical arrangements, together with a reading of the Bible background, which accompanied each scene served to round out a program of lasting impression. Local people who did not take advantage of this occasion missed an opportunity of seeing an interpretation of the Bible in an entirely new

WOMAN'S DEMOCRATIC CLUB TAKES NO PART IN WPA ROW

Mrs. J. C. Lane Writes President
The Eleanor Roosevelt Woman's Democratic Club of Bulloch county has not taken part in the criticism of the WPA and Miss Gay B. Shepperson, the administrator, Mrs. Julian C. Lane, president of the organization, stated here today. Mrs. Lane, president of the Eleanor Roosevelt Club and the First District Woman's Democratic Club, wrote Miss Shepperson commending her for her work. Letters were also sent to President Roosevelt and Harry L. Hopkins, stating the position of the First District Club and the Bulloch county organization. Following the action of an Atlanta organization for changes in the WPA set-up in Georgia, Mrs. Lane wrote, in part, to Miss Shepperson: "The Eleanor Roosevelt Club of Bulloch county desires to inform you that we are not part of the 'Georgia' Women's Democratic Club of Atlanta. The Georgia Woman's Democratic Club is 'Georgia' in name only, and does not include all the clubs of Georgia as the public seems to think. The name is misleading, and in justice to our club, and to eliminate any further confusion, it is the spirit of this statement to let you know that we were not a part of the criticism of the WPA in Georgia." In her letter as president of the First District Club, Mrs. Lane wrote: "Way down in Georgia there is a group of women's democratic clubs, the first organized club of clubs in Georgia, and the first to endorse our President's plans, the First District Woman's Democratic Club, nationally affiliated. The club commands your most highly for the capable man in which you have performed your duties as administrator of the WPA in Georgia."

10 ACRES OF BULLOCH'S BEST

The above photograph shows what is believed to be one of the best fields of tobacco in this section. It contains 10 acres and is grown by Sam Robins near Kennedy's Pond. This tobacco was planted in the latter part of March, and the above picture was made June 6. Mr. Robins began curing tobacco last week. He stated that he used approximately 1000 pounds of fertilizer to the acre. The picture shows Mr. Robins and two workers standing with arms outstretched to give an idea of the height of the tobacco.

F. W. Hodges Has 1811-1819 Minutes Of State of Georgia

OLD DOCUMENT PURCHASED FROM NEGRO MINISTER FOR FIFTY CENTS.
The minutes of the State of Georgia from 1811 to 1819, an old document purchased from a negro minister for fifty cents by F. W. Hodges, Chairman of the County Commissioners, is on display in Mr. Hodges' office, in the court house. The book, recently rebound and repressed, begins with the meeting of the 1811 legislature, with David B. Mitchell, Governor, Robert Iversen, speaker of the house, and Mathew Tolbert, president of the senate. The seat of the state government was at Milledgeville at that time, and it was from that city that the minutes brought the book to Bulloch county. Some of the interesting items to the people of this section follow: In 1818 an act to incorporate the Bank of Darien; in 1818 an act to create an inland navigation from the Ogeechee to the Savannah river; in 1818 an act to make clear the dividing line between Bulloch and Emanuel counties; in 1817 the appointment of commissioners for the Ogeechee river; (Jonathan Robinson, Andrew Byrd, and Robert Burton). Of particular interest was the act in 1818 incorporating the Savannah Steamship Company. This company was established according to the act with the view to making a laudable and meritorious experiment, to attach either as auxiliary or principal, the ship to steam to sea vessels, for the purpose of navigating the Atlantic and other oceans. In the act it was further stated that the company had provided a ship for that purpose. Bulloch county was established in 1796, fifteen years before the formation of dates in the old book, however, there are several references to boundaries of Bulloch county.

POULTRY CAR SALE JUNE 22
Bulloch county poultrymen will hold a cooperative sale Tuesday, June 22, at the Central of Georgia depot. Warren Produce Company, Atlanta, was the successful bidder with a bid of 32 cents per pound for colored fryers, 20 cents for large leghorn fryers, 13 cents for colored hens, 11 cents for leghorn hens and 8 cents per pound for roosters. The previous sale held moved about 8,000 pounds of poultry. This sale is expected to exceed the initial sale in volume and returns. Farmers are urged by the farm agent not to dispose of hens that are in production. It is always wise to move culls because of the cost of maintenance without any returns. VIRGIL DONALDSON TAKES POSITION WITH COLLEGE
Virgil Donaldson, popular Statesboro grocery merchant has accepted a position with the South Georgia Teachers College. Mr. Donaldson began his work at the college Tuesday. Virgil Donaldson has been connected with the John Everett Company, prominent grocery store, for the past seventeen years, and has become known as one of the cities leading grocers. His large number of customers regret that they will lose his services, but at the same time rejoice in his association with the college. At the college Mr. Donaldson will have complete charge of the college book store. A new book store and post office is now being erected on the college campus and Mr. Donaldson will have complete charge of the enlarged store.

Summer Reading Advised by County Library Board

It was announced this week that the Bulloch County Library has on its shelves good reading material and that it is available to the citizens of Bulloch county. In order to promote the reading habits of children of the county, as well as the adults, and to raise the standards of reading and add to the pleasure of readers during the summer, Mr. Holloway, the school-service man, will distribute to each school a number of valuable books. On a given date he will return and exchange books and in this way the people of the county may read as many books as they like. Every school in Bulloch county has free access to these books. A person in each community will be in charge of heeding such books to the readers at some central location, and it is suggested that this be the school in the community. If you are reading for pleasure it is suggested that you select a book adaptable to your character and disposition. If you are reading for a specific purpose on some particular subject then consult with your librarian at your school center.

W. C. HODGES ON G. C. P. A. BOARD

W. C. Hodges has again been elected a member of the board of directors of the Georgia Cotton Producers Association, D. W. Brooks, manager of the association, announced at the annual meeting held at their warehouses in Atlanta Thursday. Mr. Hodges served in the year 1936 and 1937 marketing season for 13 counties around Bulloch. There are eight other members of the board. E. L. Anderson, local interior classifier for the association, stated that the organization was well pleased with Mr. Hodges service to the farmers in this section. Mr. Brooks also praised the Bulloch cottoning very highly. This farmers' organization varies from the previous cotton cooperative in that the interior classifier advances farmers the price of cotton on the day of delivery and then patronage dividends are distributed after the cotton is sold. The organization handled more cotton than any other cotton in the state during the past marketing season. Efforts are being made to put the organization closer to all the farmers in the state.
